Certain Criminal Proceedings in France (Republic of the Congo v. France)

Further extension of time-limits for the filing of a Reply and a Rejoinder

THE HAGUE, 12 January 2006. The International Court of Justice (ICJ) has extended the time-limits for the submission of a Reply by the Republic of the Congo and a Rejoinder by France in the case concerning Certain Criminal Proceedings in France (Republic of the Congo v. France).

By an Order of 11 January 2006, the Court fixed 11 July 2006 and 11 August 2008 as the respective time-limits for the filing of these pleadings.

In a letter dated 9 January 2006, the Agent of the Republic of the Congo, referring to the current status of the judicial proceedings in France and in the Congo, asked the Court, for the reasons set out in the letter, to extend by six months the time-limit for the filing of the Reply of the Republic of the Congo. In a letter also dated 9 January 2006, the Agent of the French Republic indicated that her Government did not object to the further extension of time sought, it being understood that "this acceptance [was] linked only to the judicial proceedings in France" and that the time-limit fixed for the filing of the Rejoinder be extended likewise.

History of the proceedings
